

Company Profile

“... My laboratory is a workshop, a place where I continually accumulate materials, parts and objects of different kinds; this is where it all begins... I assemble, weld, bend, shape... I need to feel the materials, to see how they interact with light”

Enzo Catellani

Established in 1989, Catellani & Smith reflects the artistic personality of its founder, Enzo Catellani, carrying out, for thirty years, work that is in continuous evolution, halfway between art and craft.

Enzo Catellani's lighting creations are objects with a soul, which reveal the importance and unique qualities of a product made 'by hand'.

The distinctive and personal approach to design, together with advanced research in the field of technology, make Catellani & Smith a leading company in the lighting sector.

Catellani & Smith is also involved in producing special pieces for private and public spaces such as museums, art galleries, shows and events, churches and theatres.

The company was established in an old restored mill, just a few kilometres from Bergamo.

Over the years, two manufacturing departments were opened along the Serio river and in an industrial area, with light-filled rooms and terraces covered in jasmine.

In 2018 the operational headquarters were moved closer to the production facilities, in a new building in which design, lighting and nature merge to create a pleasant work environment, in line with the company's core values.
